

SATURDAY MORNING, FEB. 7, 1863

way connected with the disgraceful "institution." The sickening east about "the flag," is no longer rung in the ears of the faithful, and the song of "the best government the world ever saw," has ceased to stir the patriotic enthusiasm of the great Yankee nation. The people are getting tired of the war. The press is speaking out boldly against the free-negro dynasty, and the attempt of the dynasty, moreover, to throw wet blanket over the critics, only increases the excitement and causes the seething cauldron to boil with increased fury. In other words, the great Abolition Sunshiner, if it persists, is effectually "gone up," is "going up as rapidly as its most inveterate enemies could desire."

Dog Skins.—The agricultural papers of Georgia have been complaining for years of the immense number of dogs in that State, and a heavy dog-tax has been advocated as a means of reducing their number, but in vain. The plague seems now in a fair way to be removed, as dog skins are in great demand for the manufacture of cotton cards.

SMALL P.OX.—We have some cases of this disease in this vicinity and place. Three deaths have occurred from it a mile or two south of town—one white person and two negroes. There has been two cases within the limits of the corporation, in a mild form. We treat both patients as fast recovering. No new cases reported within the last ten days.
